

System and Method for Finger and Path Management in Receivers

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

System and method for managing finger and path resources. A preferred embodiment comprises receiving a delay profile, processing paths from the delay profile, placing the processed paths into a plurality of sets based on path criteria, and assigning the placed processed paths to demodulating fingers. A preferred embodiment further comprises the use of historical information on paths in the placing.